A Gallery of 1981 Senior Portraits

As the future begins, the doors of Rogers High School closed behind us and we leave with only memories.

A unique class, the 1981 Seniors expanded upon old traditions and established new ones. They improved school spirit and had fun while doing it.

The senior class, lead by President; Mike Begert, Vice President; Robin Johnson, Secretary; Anne Cooper, and Yell Leader, Sandy Galleta, showed excellent participation in all activities.

But now as we look back, only images of last minute Senior English papers and "Awesome" times with friends come to mind. This special point in time when dreams of the future become a reality will never be forgotten by the Class of '81.

The 1981 Senior Class Officers
Kneeling: Mike Begert
Standing: Robin Johnson, Anne Cooper, and Sandee Galleta.

This years junior class had the first parent support group. The purpose of the support group was to help the junior class raise money for their senior ball. The group will continue until the junior class has graduated. The parents tried to organize fund raisers for the class. The juniors are hoping to get enough money to go on a class trip for graduation.

One of the most noticeable things about the class of 82 is their enthusiasm. Even last year as sophomores they were thought of as the most spirited class. The juniors were led this year by President Nic Beckman, Vice-President Kurt Malloy, Secretary Sheryl Bombardidier and Yell Leader Tami Waddell.

Seated are Sheryl Bombardidier and Nic Beckman; Standing are Kurt Malloy and Tami Waddell.

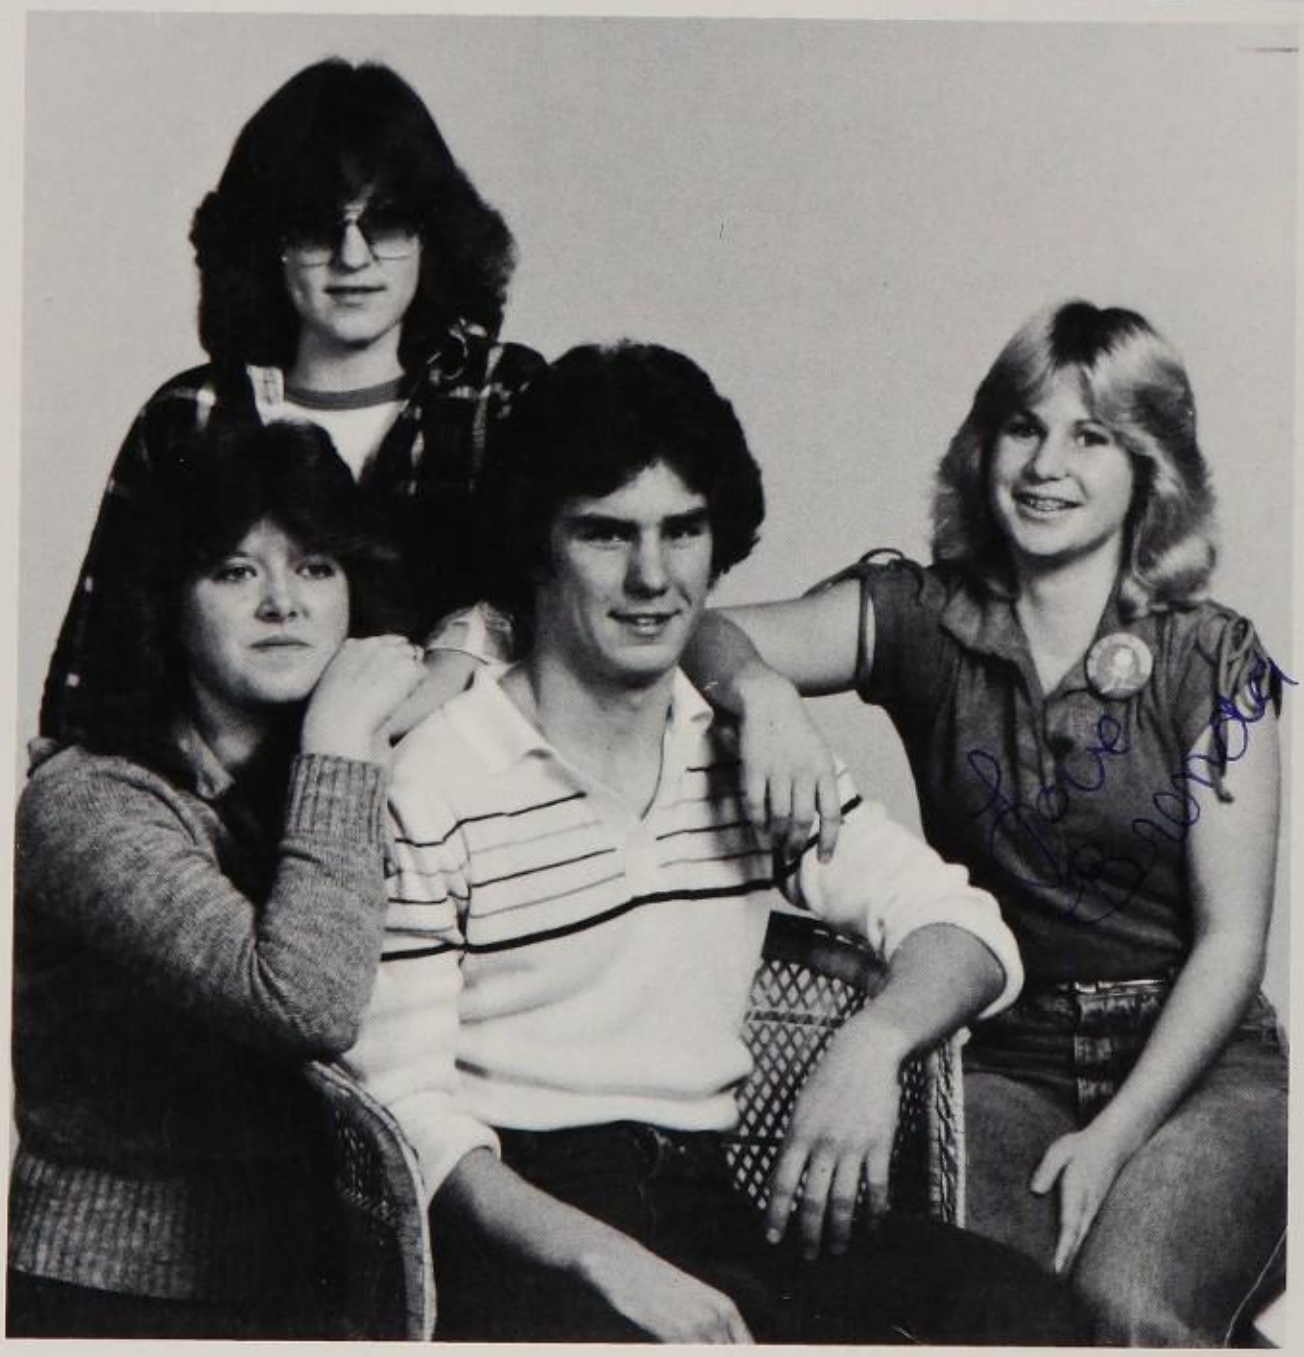
Sophomores Carve out Roger's Future



The Class of 83 showed pride and spirit throughout the school year. Many sophomores got involved in the fund raising activities for the sophomore class, and helped to start off their years at Rogers with a lot of money.

The Junior class really welcomed the sophomores, and helped them feel wanted throughout the year. They wanted the two classes to get close so they could be united in the future. The Sophomores put on a semi-formal dance that was held on April 4, 1981 with the help of the Juniors, and it was fun for everyone who attended.

Bob Mumford, president; Wendy Mertlich, vice-president; Brenda Allison, secretary and Shannon Browne, yell leader have done their best in raising spirit and money throughout the 1980-81 year.

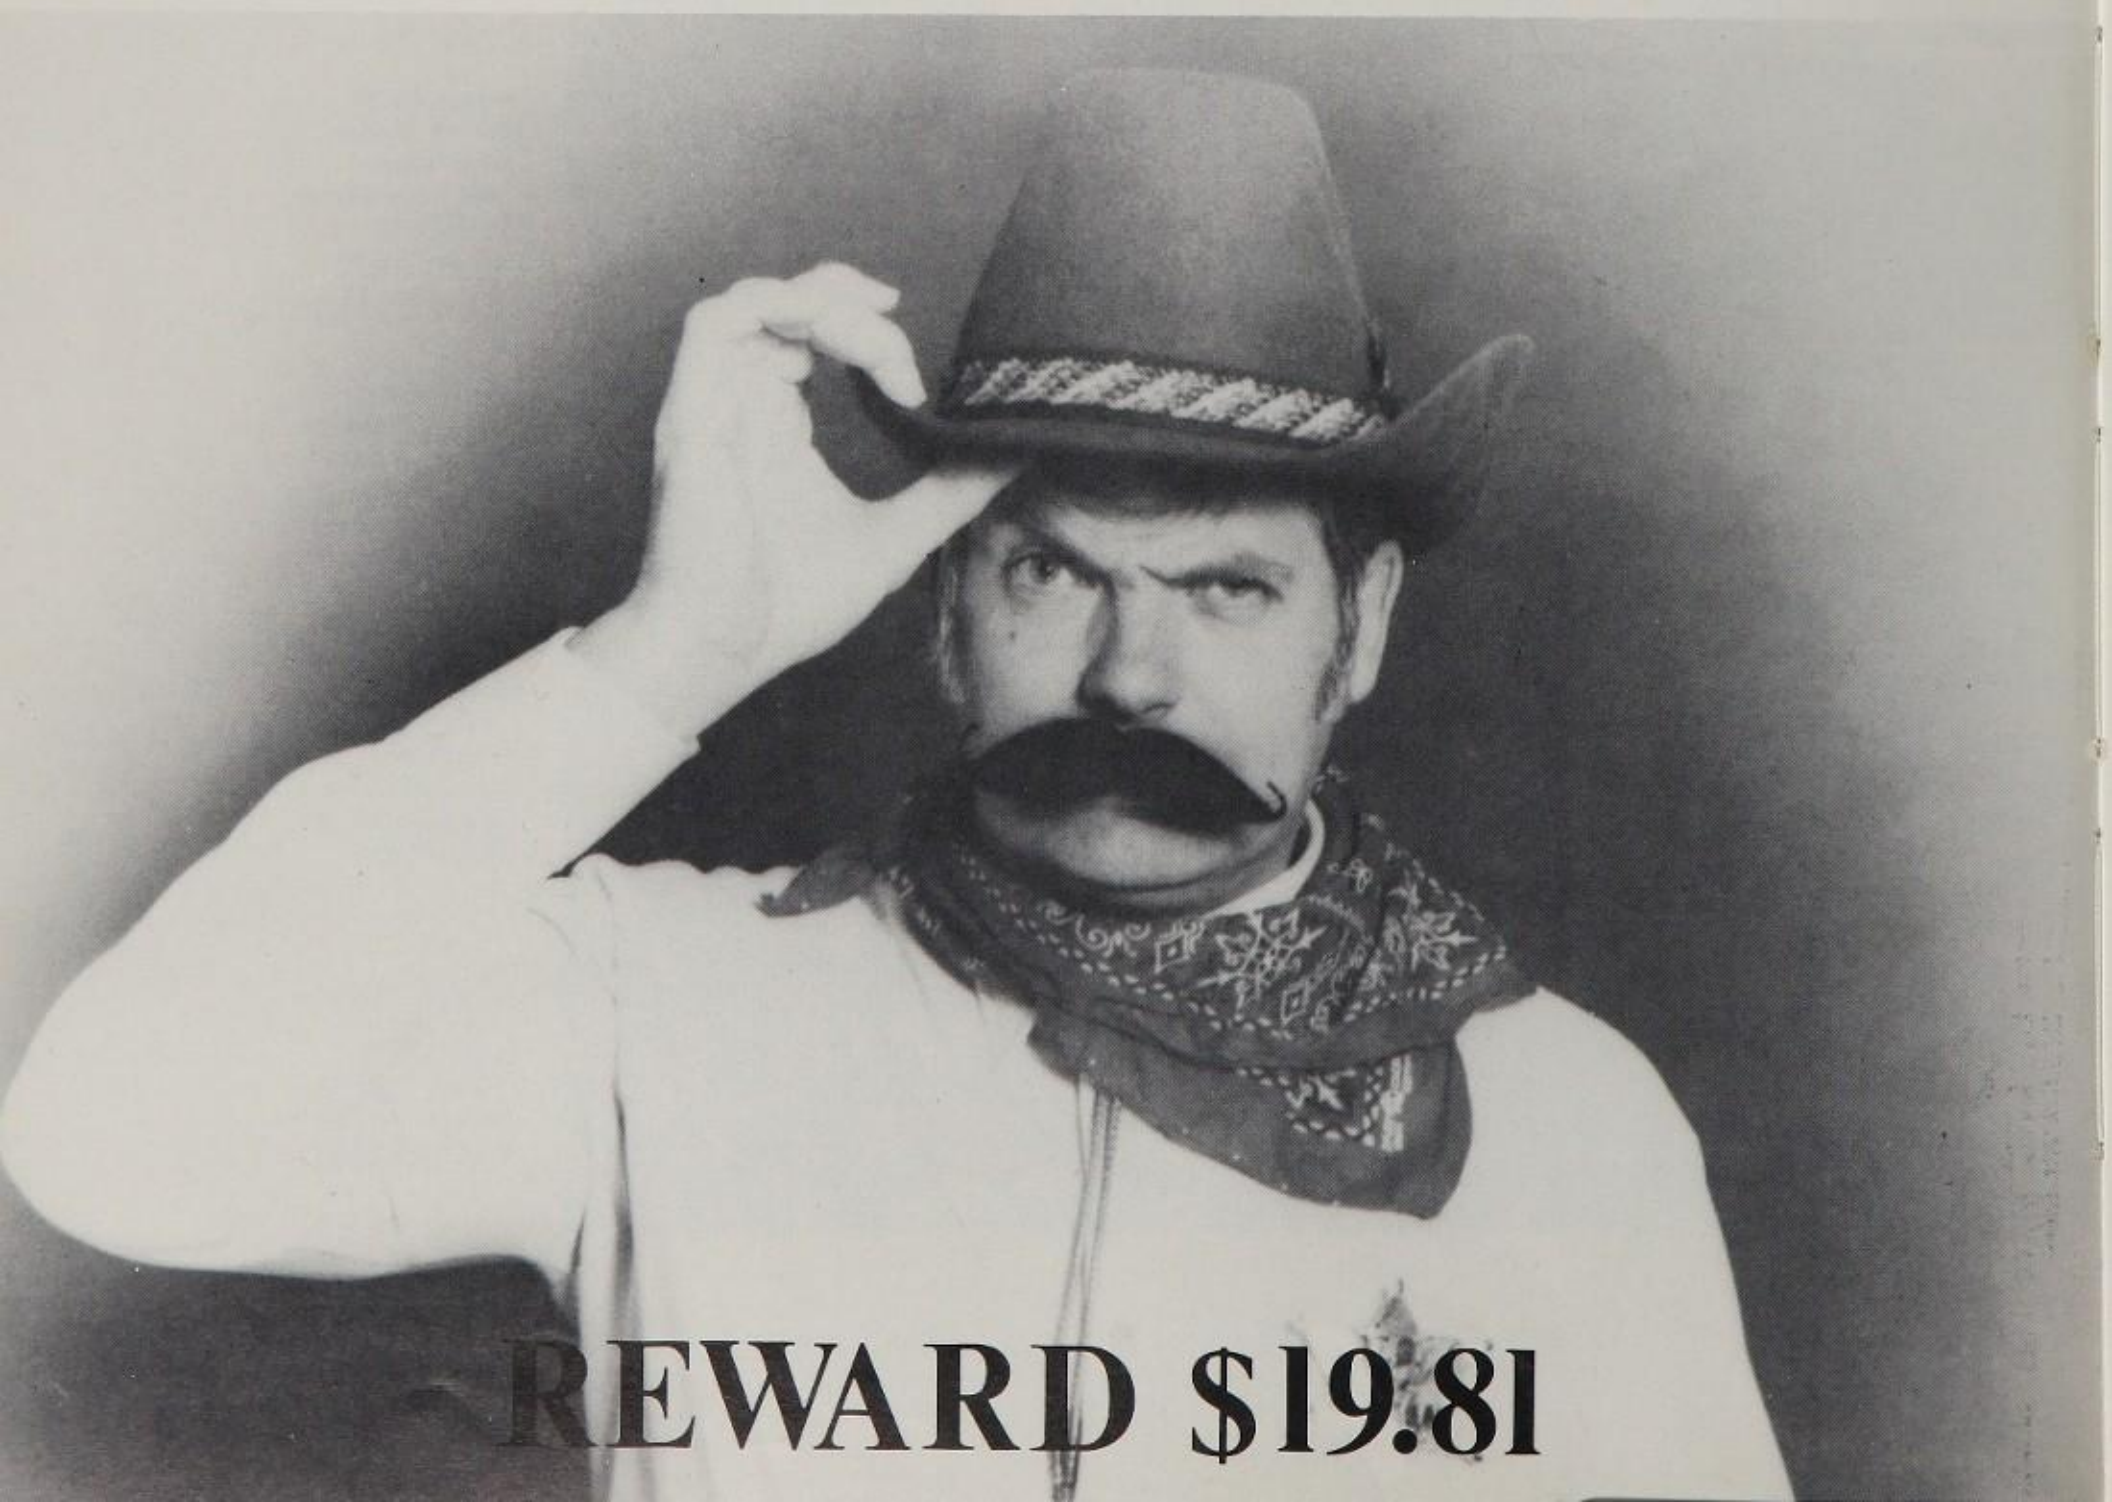
Administration and Faculty Strive for a Rich Haul of Knowledge...

WANTED:



REWARD $19.81

Law and Order is Restored in the West

Mr. J. Bustad
Vice Principal

Mr. S. Cross
Principal

Mr. H. Diseth
Vice Principal

HOWDY PODNER!

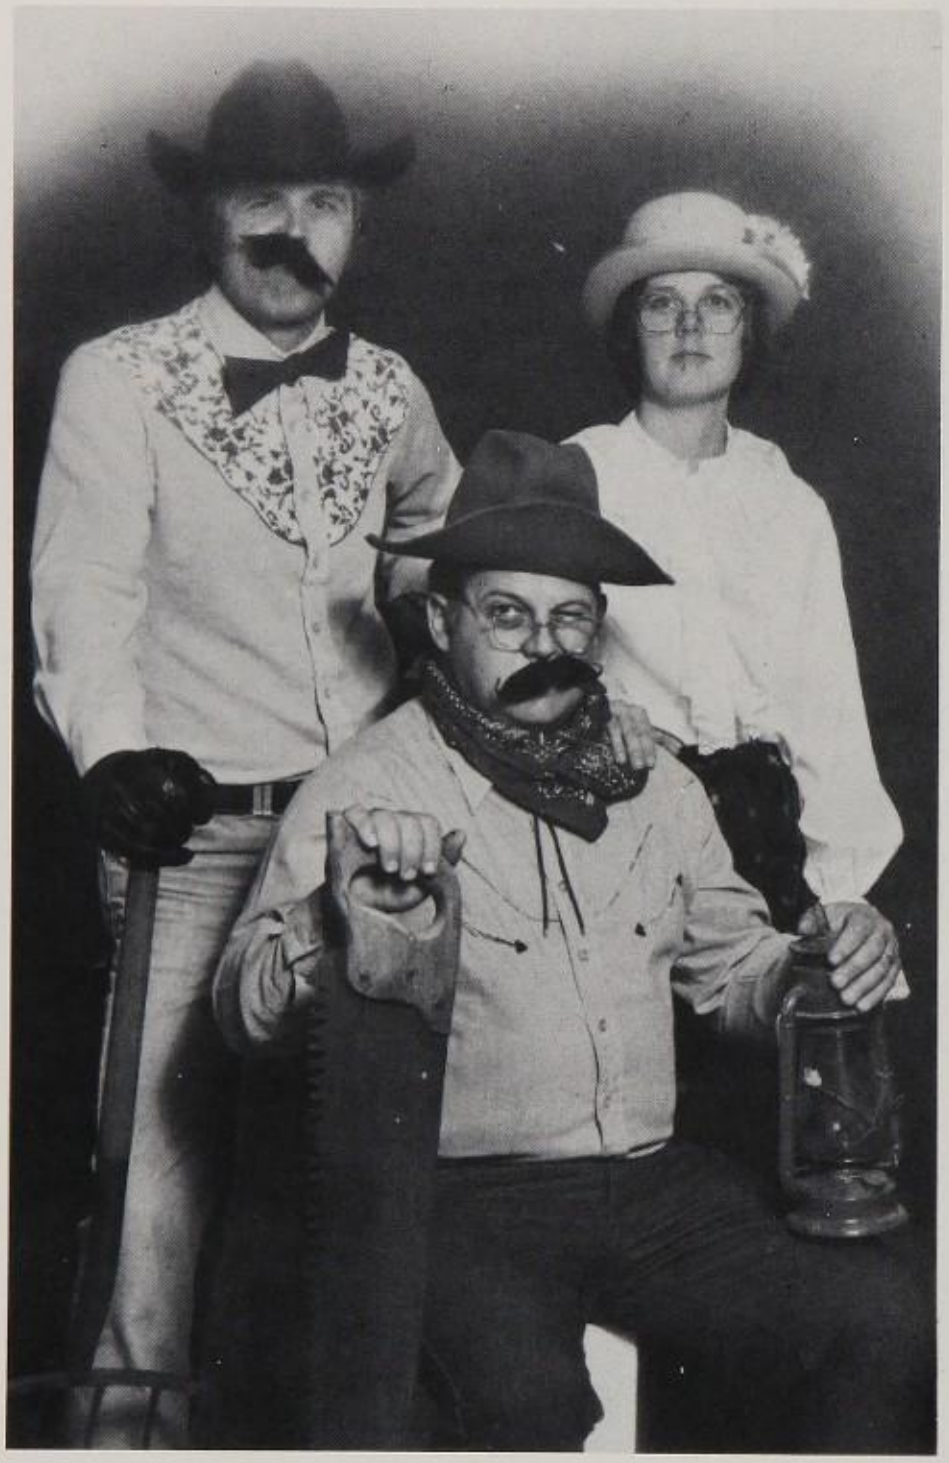
Welcome to our western theme this year! The Annual Staff has done a remarkable job in the organizing and preparation of this year's annual for you to review often and treasure in years to come. The opening of our school started off with a "down-home" warm and friendly feeling of the old west—meaning our students and faculty rolled up their sleeves and got involved in their curriculum, programs, extracurricular activities, and individual goal-setting techniques with emphasis on self-evaluation. The traditional RHS spirit and enthusiasm certainly exemplifies this year's student body as always showing excellent activity support and superb sportsmanship during competition and league play. I TIP MY HAT TO YOU!

To our graduating seniors, I would like to thank each of you for your contributions during your years at Rogers High School, and "Good Luck" in your future endeavors. To the returning members of our student body, I am already looking forward to an even better year next year

Stan Cross

Principal

Group Organizes Community Affairs



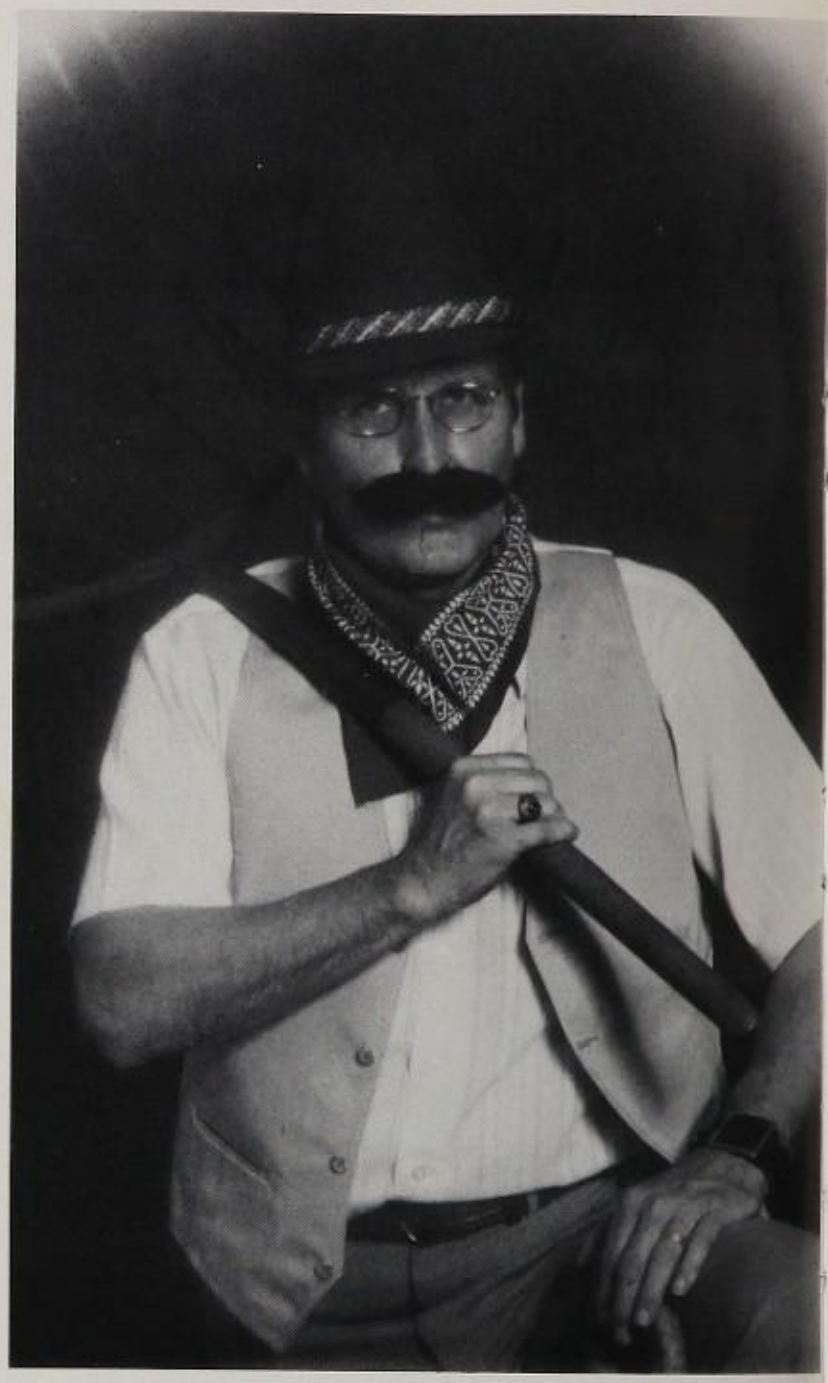
Sitting: Mr. Fred Mertlich. Standing: Mr. Larry Meyer and Mrs. Joan Berry.

Rogers High School has three counselors that stay with their respective classes through the sophomore to senior year. Mr. Fred Mertlich has enjoyed working with the senior class and wishes them much success in future years.

Mrs. Joan Berry is pleased to work with the class of '82, and appreciates their enthusiasm. "We're looking for an 'awesome' senior year," commented Mrs. Berry.

The best sophomore class to hit Rogers in many years is looking forward to an even better junior year. "We're eager to cooperate with next years sophomore and senior classes in keeping Rogers the best high school in the SPSL," states Mr. Larry Meyer.

Thanks to the help of the three counselors, Rogers student body had a successful year.



Mr. Lynn Calkins

Not unlike the town's mayor, Mr. Lynn Calkins was in charge of the organizing and budgeting of all Rogers student activities. This man mapped out the Calender of all sports events, money raising projects and club events. Another important aspect of Mr. Calkins' work was his ability to establish and to reinforce all activities of any kind going on throughout the year. Mr. Calkins makes sure every event is planned and held with little complications.

Staff Provides Aid on the Frontier

Lois Williams, Mr. Cross's secretary, is the office manager. Her main job is to see that the office runs smoothly and to handle Mr. Cross's secretarial work. Pat Mitchell, Mr. Bustad's secretary, is also the office receptionist. She answers phone calls, and takes care of Mr. Bustad's secretarial work. Jeanne Goter, the bookkeeper, handles all money transactions at RHS for the ASB and district accounts. Jeanne Bjoring, the attendance secretary, is in charge of keeping track of the attendance of every student, which includes many hours of recording absences, tardies and preparing reports. Bonnie Dickhoff is our data processing secretary, she handles all the data processing work for regestration and transcripts and computer work for the guidance office. The library secretary. Laviva Dore works for Mr. Leonetti, and helps supervise the library, orders books, takes inventory and prepares books for shelving. Diane Scheidt is the A-V secretary. She is in charge of maintaining and scheduling all the audio-visual material; also, she types instructional material for the teachers. Lyla Anderson, the guidance secretary, keeps the Guidance Office under control, and is very busy typing for the counselors, taking care of student records plus doing numerous other duties. The Nurse, Mrs. E. Henry, takes care of the health services for RHS.

At Home on the Range

Knowing what families were and what they are now, we see a change. Back "Home On The Range" the women were more concerned about sewing, cooking, and cleaning. However, besides the sewing, cooking and cleaning, today there are many different classes available to both guys and gals at Rogers High School. Some of the most important additions were Child Development, Housing, and Clothing.

The Home and Family Life teachers at Rogers stressed the financial independence of the students and how they would manage in the future. Rogers offered classes also in the area of occupational studies such as FEAST, Advanced Foods, Child Care Services, and Health Awareness. From these classes the teachers hoped that each student would gain knowledge about themselves, and to create a life style that the students could live with confidently. Next year the teachers are looking forward to alot of students taking these classes, for the good of themselves, as well as their lives.

An Artistic Tribute to A Vanishing People

With their special talents Evert DeYoung, Margaret Langston, Debbie Ross, and Chairperson Delores Ward shared their talents with the Rogers High School students. Several students have won competitions throughout, the State, which reflects the successfulness of the program.

Business is an important industry in American life. Schools of yesterday did little more than teach the basics that one needed to get by on. The schools of today have expanded their curriculum to include the working and business world. The classes included in the department are: Business Law, Business Communications, Typing and Shorthand. With the growing need to understand a rapidly changing world, the business classes help to prepare the students for future life.

Drivers Education

Traffic Safety Education classes are taught in three basic parts: in the classroom, on-the-road driving, and in simulators.

While in the classroom, students learn rules of the road and safe driving techniques. On-the-road driving is for students to gain in experience and expertise. The simulators help students learn to cope with problems they may encounter while driving.

Readin' . . . Writin' . . .

Years ago, back in the one-room school houses, reading, writing, and arithmetic were the three basics in education. Each of these basics have been refined and expanded upon. Now, Arithmatic has grown to wider fields featuring such classes as Algebra, Geometry and Calculus. English has taken the same route, many of the courses offered at RHS include Logic, College English, Grammar/Vocabulary, and Advance Placement English.

The instructors use different methods of teaching which have been found to be more successful than the hickory stick. Students are now able to relate to the more personal side of their teachers. Students and teachers have reached the point, where fortunately they can work in a more relaxed atmosphere, in which the teacher needn't constantly threaten the student with the old fashioned whippings.

The change in the three basics has been a welcome and well-received one. The benefits are far-reaching and will be carried on into later life.

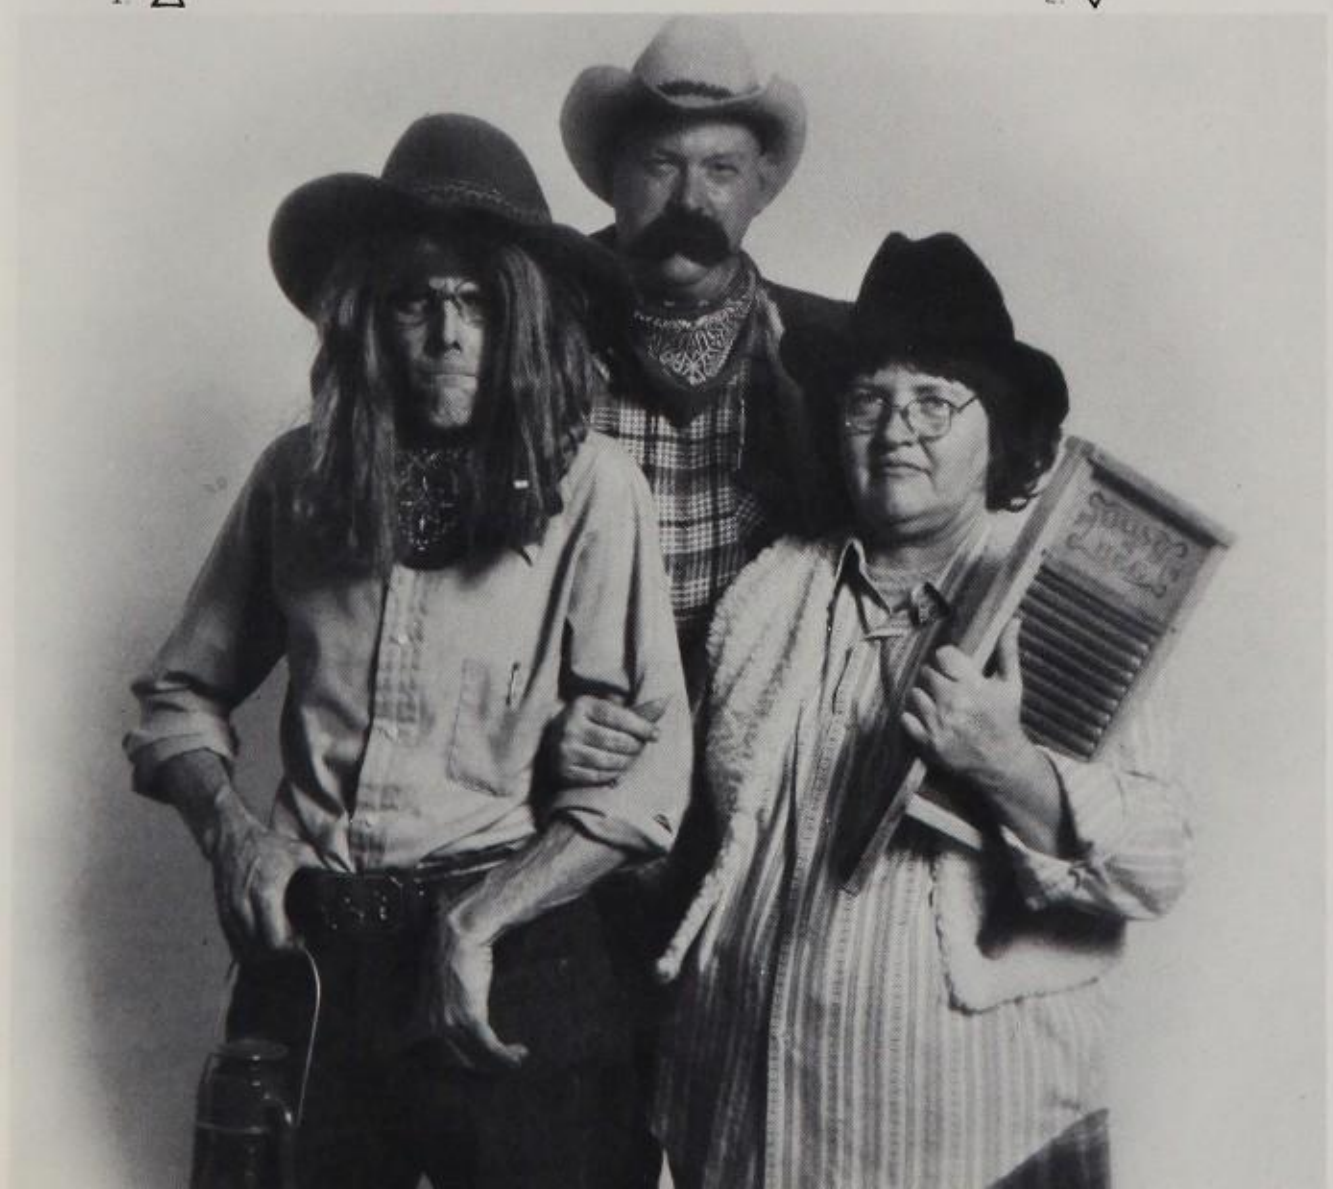
Many things have changed since the days of the Old West. In the one-room school houses, reference materials were limited to a few dusty volumes. The references have expanded to what is now the present day library. The Special Services teachers assist the students daily with needs for furthered knowledge. The aid is valuable and the library could not be run successfully without their help.

Cooks and Custodians Contribute to a fine Campus

1. △ 2. ▽



The cooks prepare an average of 475 lunches per day. All the cooking is done here at Rogers. This year, the cooks provided a salad bar, that was enjoyed by both the faculty and the students. From 7:15 to 7:45, the cafeteria was open, and the cooks were busy serving doughnuts and hot chocolate, and selling tickets for the fast food line and the salad bar.

The custodians are always busy maintaining machinery and upkeeping the campus, and many other chores. Their job is very important and is much appreciated.

The very talented senior cheerleaders added some extra entertainment when they performed "Boogie Fever" for the crowd.

Much time was spent on practices and the coaches were near a nervous breakdown.

SHOW ON EARTH!

Roger's annual Homecoming Week was held October 13-18. To start the week off on Monday the students participated actively by dressing up as cowboys for Western Day. Tuesday, Pajama Day was highlighted by an early morning breakfast held in the cafeteria. Circus Day, Sports Day and the traditional Formal Day filled the next three days.

Homecoming ended with "The Greatest Show on Earth". The assembly was marked by a Swing Choir performance, class competition and the Royalty presentation. Hard work and determination by many of the senior students helped to make the assembly, dance and the entire week a success.

Before the Queen's Coronation, Diana spent many hours preparing for the ceremony. She attended luncheons at private clubs and spoke before the members. Diana also went to charm school every Saturday to polish her manners.

The girls involved in the Roger's coronation became close friends and grew from the exciting experience. The memories of their time together will last forever.

Cheerleading is a lot of things, but mostly it's many hours of hard work. The long hours were devoted to painting posters for games and pep assemblies, devising new and different cheers and routines and of course, practicing.

The 1980-81 Yell Staff was unique in the aspect that they were all seniors. The girls attended the World Cheerleader Council Camp in Ellensburg where they recieved three superior ratings.

The close feeling within the staff contributed to making the year a fun and memorable one for all the girls.

The J.V. Cheerleaders filled their year with games, fund-raisers and many learning experiences. Some of the more successful fund raisers included selling Roger's hats and scarves at the games, having bakesales and sponsoring a tremendously well attended dance, held after the Rogers-Puyallup basketball game. Other activities which the girls gave their time to were decorating the athlete's lockers, painting posters and of course, cheering at every game in support of our RAMS.

The staff put alot of their time during summer vacation and also during and after school into perfecting their chants and jumps. It required a lot of work and effort on all the girls part, but all and all it was a very fun experience and well worth the time spent. experience and well worth the time spent.

The drill team was active this year marching at home football games, the playoff game, five home basketball games, halftime at a PLU basketball game, and the Daffodil Parade.

Because of scheduling problems and summer dropouts, the drill team was smaller than usual, with only 22 members. Some of the girls went to camp in Portland and Tacoma during the summer.

The Drill Team members worked hard raising money for a trip with such projects as: car washes, jog-a-thon, selling stuffed animals, and gift wrapping at Christmas.

Printers go to Press

This year's COMMONER staff distributed a consistently good paper, but kept the philosophy of working hard and having fun. Editor Kelli Sliffe commented, "By no stretch of the imagination was this year's staff an average one, or even a normal one. We had a lot of fun behind the scenes and was one of the most clever staffs Rogers has had in three year's." The COMMONER staff have received many comments directed at their innovation, creativity, and boldness. These dedicated individuals have worked hard and set many precedents for years to come concerning school newspapers. One sport that many students do not recognize as a sport is debate. This year's debate team consisted of twenty-six students, nine of which were returning varsity members. Advisors for the group were Mrs. Houghton and Jerry Hobbs from P.L.U.

The debate team met each day during sixth period and spent an additional four to five hours a day at home working on their individual speeches.

The two most important debates were held at Western Washington University on Dec. 5 and 6, and at Gozaga University on Jan. 9 and 10. Students from all over the Pacific Northwest participated in these tournaments.

The group raised money by running in the jog-a-thon, donations and bake sales.

All members agreed that it was a very successful year.

"The most explosive team at Rogers", Coach Hoonan stated. The Rams led the league in offense all year, with 2451 yards in nine games, they also led the league in defense against the run. Senior leadership, commitment and the "We are family" attitude of the team helped develop the nucleus of the team. With inspiring coaches and awesome managers the team grew more than most teams. Tennis Team Gains Experience

With one returning veteran player, the Rogers girl's tennis team was young in two different ways. This was the first year of competitive play for most of the team members and the coach. Mark Smith came to Rogers coaching inexperienced but eager girls. The main ingredient in the teams play was having fun. Along with this fun came the improvement of technique. The team's record was 0-8. Although the record reflected inexperience the girls felt it was a good learning season and look forward to next year.

The third place finish qualified the Rams for a district tournament playoff spot which matched them against Evergreen of the NPSL. The Rams played some of their best volleyball of the year, but lost the decision in a very exciting three game match.

Seniors Karen Barnes, Cathy Dayton, Danelle Frank, and Laura Adler who did much to the Rams fire this season will be sorely missed, but junior Robin Heehn and sophomore Sheri Bauer, Kristin Larson, Darcy Derrick, and Joan Wlldermuth will provide the nucleus for a very strong league contender next year.

The team consisted of: Danelle Frank, Darcy Derrick, Tami Waddill, Joan Wildermuth, Karen Barnes, Robin Heehn, Sheri Bauer, Shelly Schrader, Laura Adler, Kristin Larson, Christine Hannon, Cathy Dayton.

144-1 Sheri Bauer steadily bumps the ball as Robin Heehn Dannelle Frank, and Karen Barnes watch in amazement.
145-1 Coach Carmicheal gives advice to the team.
145-2 Sheri Bauer blocks tough shot.
145-3 Cathy Dayton bumps ball to net.
145-4 Robin Heehn spikes the ball and adds another point to the score.

This was one of the best groups of young men that Ive had the pleasure of coaching, stated Mr. Langston. The 1981 JV Basketball team had an exceptional season, with three juniors and six sophomores. This years SPSL league invited three new schools from the Federal Way District: the new schools were Decatur, Jefferson, and Federal Way.

The coaches felt this years team was one of the strongest in the history of Ram Slowpitch.

Positive attitudes and cooperation were strong points of the Boy's Tennis team. This year, the team was made up of mostly juniors who were inexperienced, due to the fact that last years' team was an almost all senior varsity. Lee Marshall, Mike Begert, and Mark Havens were the three returning letterman. Jim Krouse, Guy Rowley, and Russ Rosier returned from the junior varsity team from last year.

Conditioning was a major part of each workout, but skills and technique were also stressed. Even though workouts were strenuous, most of the team members turned out because they enjoyed playing tennis and wanted to have fun. Their matches were on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Trackers Head Down Trail to Victory

Talent and potential were the two main characteristics of the 1981 Rogers Track Team. A good balance of experienced runners along with a healthy group of novice sophomores provided the team with the runners needed for a promising season.

Led by captains, Diane Haugen and Tim Wulfekuhle, the RAMS were a spirited and competitive group. The 1981 Track Team was unique in the league because Rogers ran a combined team including both boys and girls in one training program. The major advantage was to form a unity around all members of the team. "This group has as much talent as any team I've seen at Rogers, they are a great bunch of kids and a real joy to work with," stated Head Coach Dave Weir.

A Gallery of 1981 Senior Portraits

As the future begins, the doors of Rogers High School closed behind us and we leave with only memories.

A unique class, the 1981 Seniors expanded upon old traditions and established new ones. They improved school spirit and had fun while doing it.

The senior class, lead by President; Mike Begert, Vice President; Robin Johnson, Secretary; Anne Cooper, and Yell Leader, Sandy Galleta, showed excellent participation in all activities.

But now as we look back, only images of last minute Senior English papers and "Awesome" times with friends come to mind. This special point in time when dreams of the future become a reality will never be forgotten by the Class of '81.

The 1981 Senior Class Officers
Kneeling: Mike Begert
Standing: Robin Johnson, Anne Cooper, and Sandee Galleta.

This years junior class had the first parent support group. The purpose of the support group was to help the junior class raise money for their senior ball. The group will continue until the junior class has graduated. The parents tried to organize fund raisers for the class. The juniors are hoping to get enough money to go on a class trip for graduation.

One of the most noticeable things about the class of 82 is their enthusiasm. Even last year as sophomores they were thought of as the most spirited class. The juniors were led this year by President Nic Beckman, Vice-President Kurt Malloy, Secretary Sheryl Bombardidier and Yell Leader Tami Waddell.

Seated are Sheryl Bombardidier and Nic Beckman; Standing are Kurt Malloy and Tami Waddell.

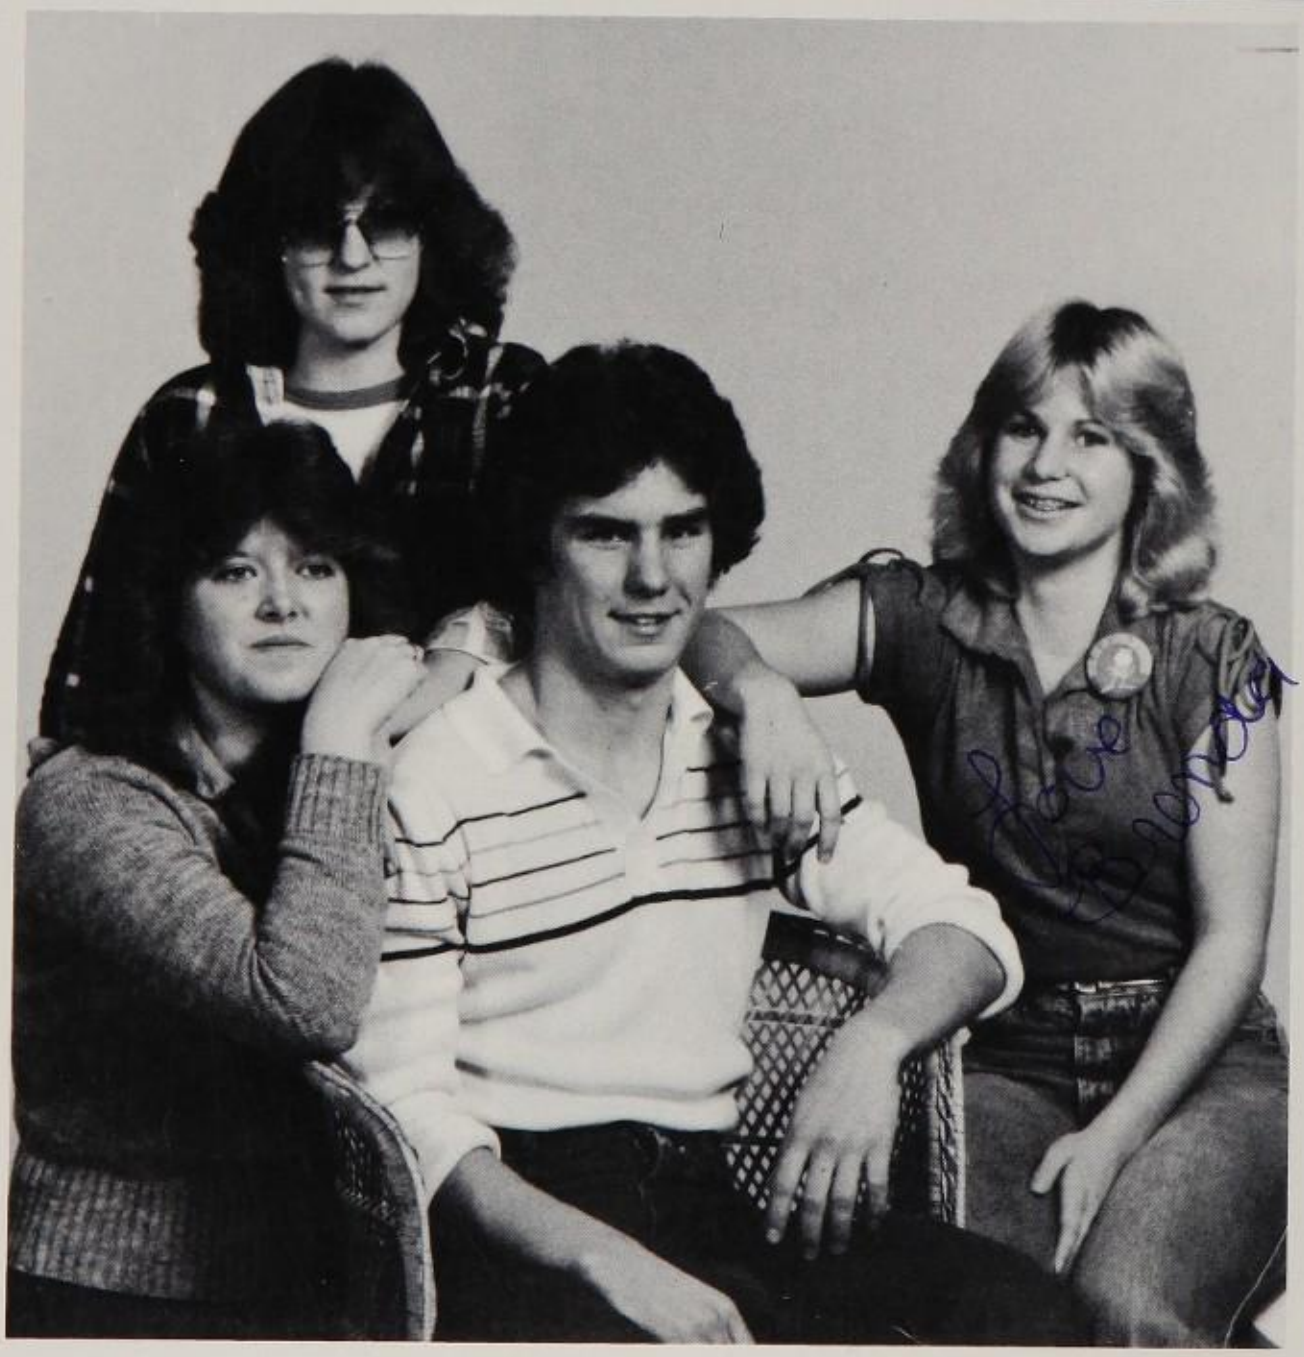
Sophomores Carve out Roger's Future



The Class of 83 showed pride and spirit throughout the school year. Many sophomores got involved in the fund raising activities for the sophomore class, and helped to start off their years at Rogers with a lot of money.

The Junior class really welcomed the sophomores, and helped them feel wanted throughout the year. They wanted the two classes to get close so they could be united in the future. The Sophomores put on a semi-formal dance that was held on April 4, 1981 with the help of the Juniors, and it was fun for everyone who attended.

Bob Mumford, president; Wendy Mertlich, vice-president; Brenda Allison, secretary and Shannon Browne, yell leader have done their best in raising spirit and money throughout the 1980-81 year.

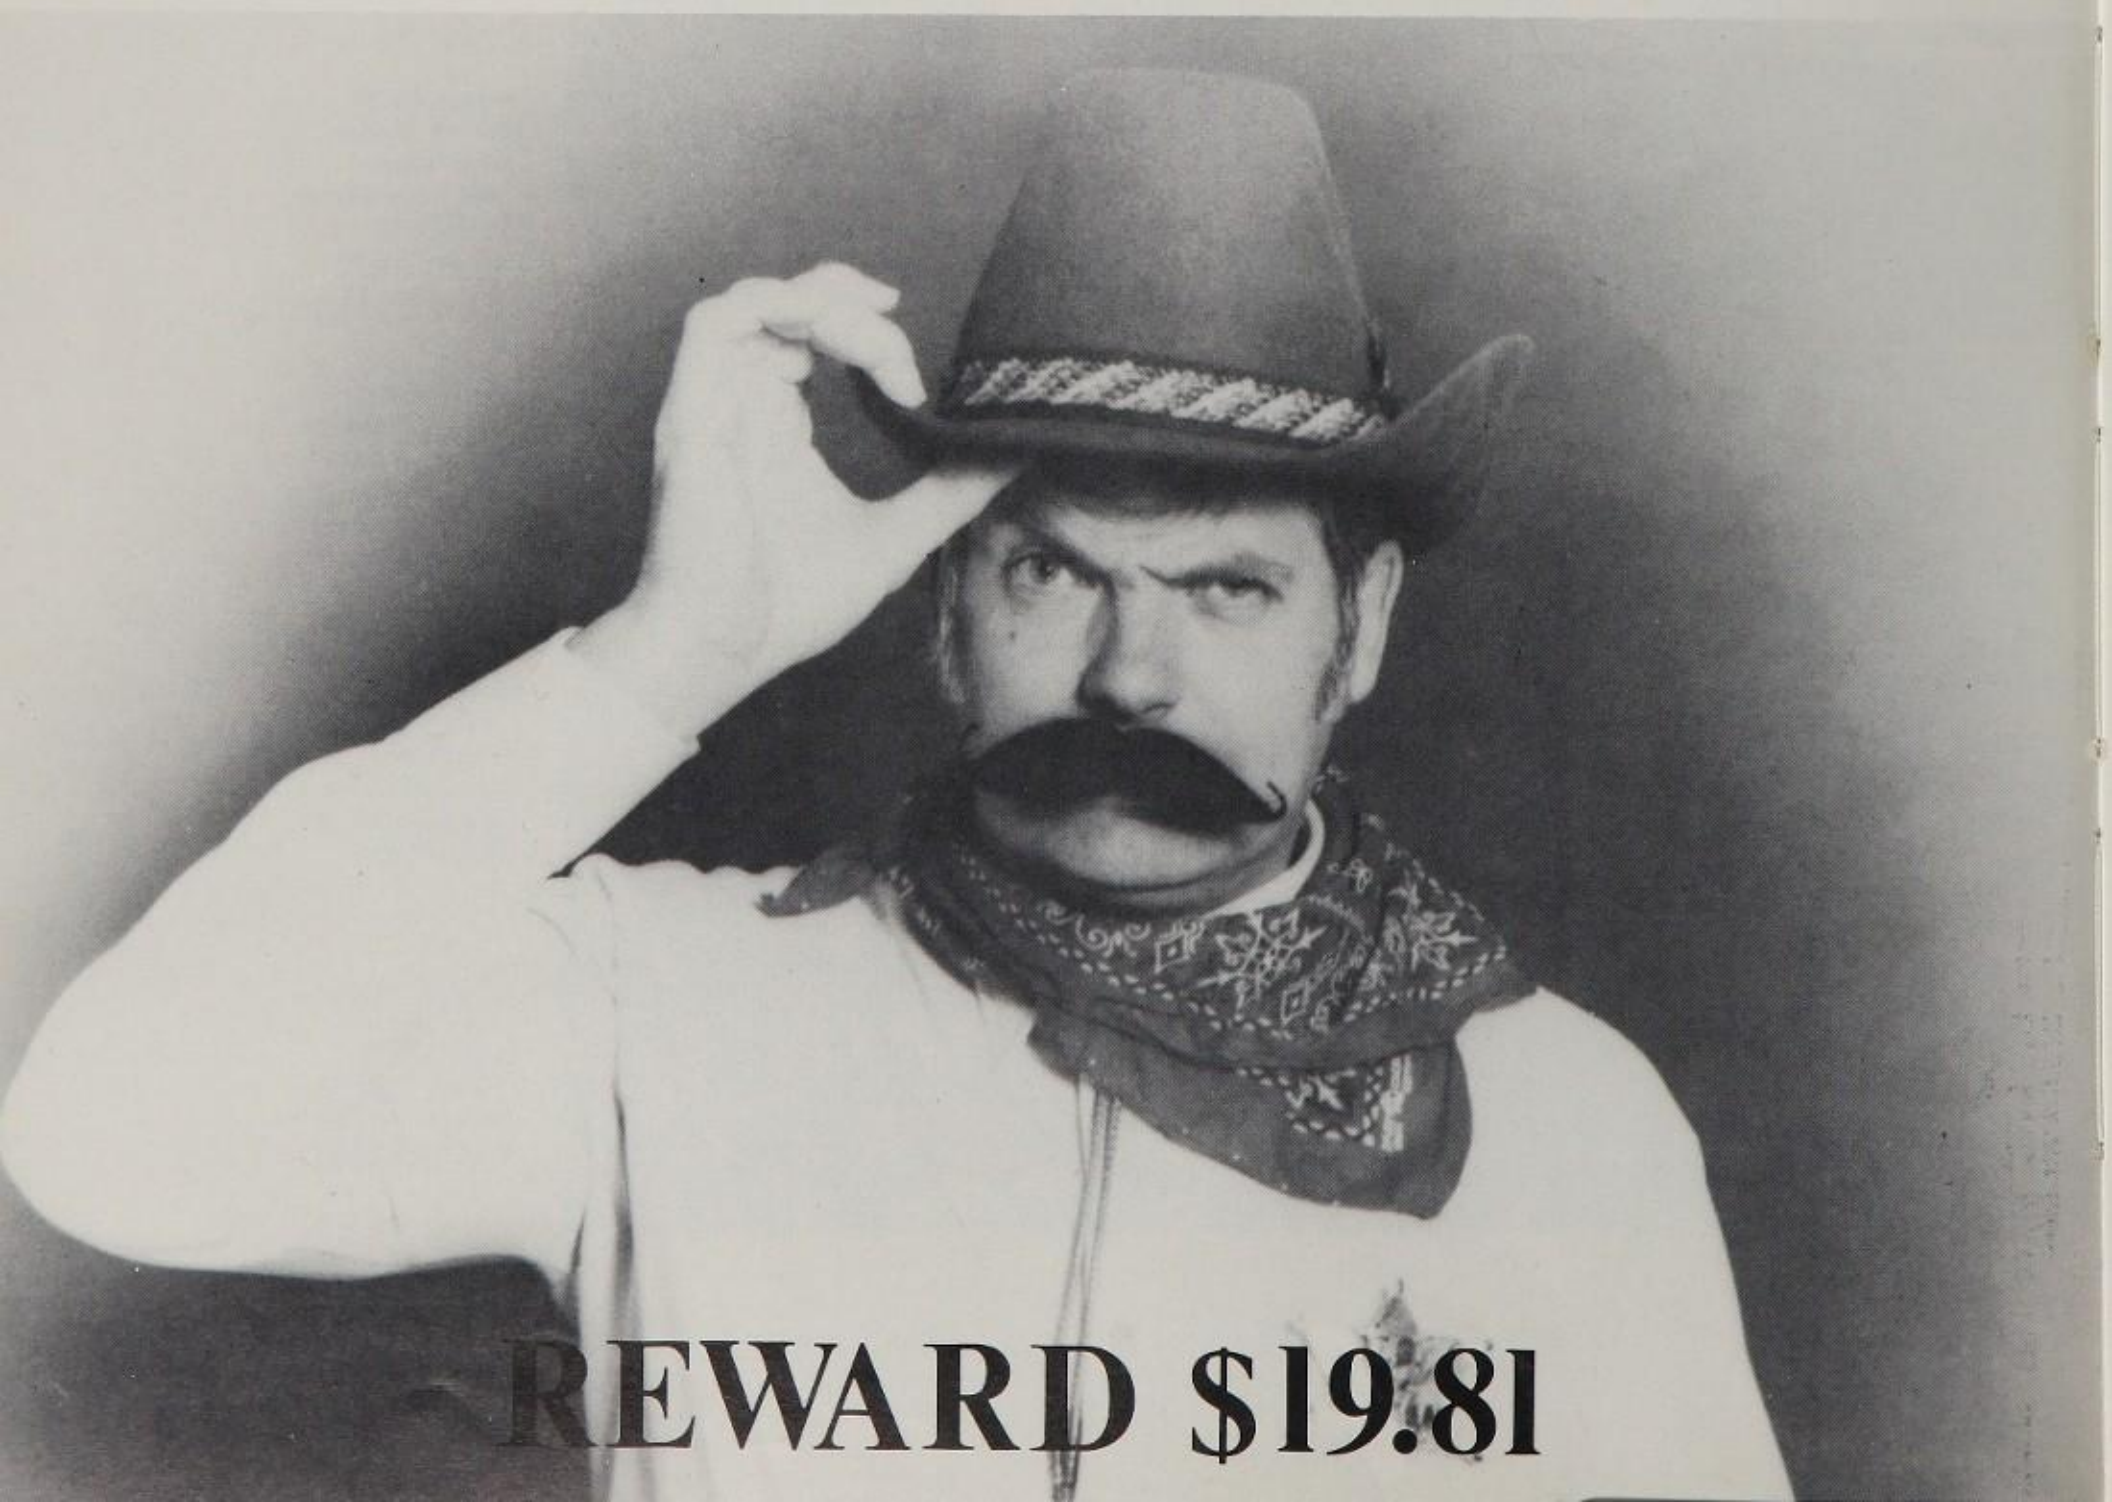
Administration and Faculty Strive for a Rich Haul of Knowledge...

WANTED:



REWARD $19.81

Law and Order is Restored in the West

Mr. J. Bustad
Vice Principal

Mr. S. Cross
Principal

Mr. H. Diseth
Vice Principal

HOWDY PODNER!

Welcome to our western theme this year! The Annual Staff has done a remarkable job in the organizing and preparation of this year's annual for you to review often and treasure in years to come. The opening of our school started off with a "down-home" warm and friendly feeling of the old west—meaning our students and faculty rolled up their sleeves and got involved in their curriculum, programs, extracurricular activities, and individual goal-setting techniques with emphasis on self-evaluation. The traditional RHS spirit and enthusiasm certainly exemplifies this year's student body as always showing excellent activity support and superb sportsmanship during competition and league play. I TIP MY HAT TO YOU!

To our graduating seniors, I would like to thank each of you for your contributions during your years at Rogers High School, and "Good Luck" in your future endeavors. To the returning members of our student body, I am already looking forward to an even better year next year

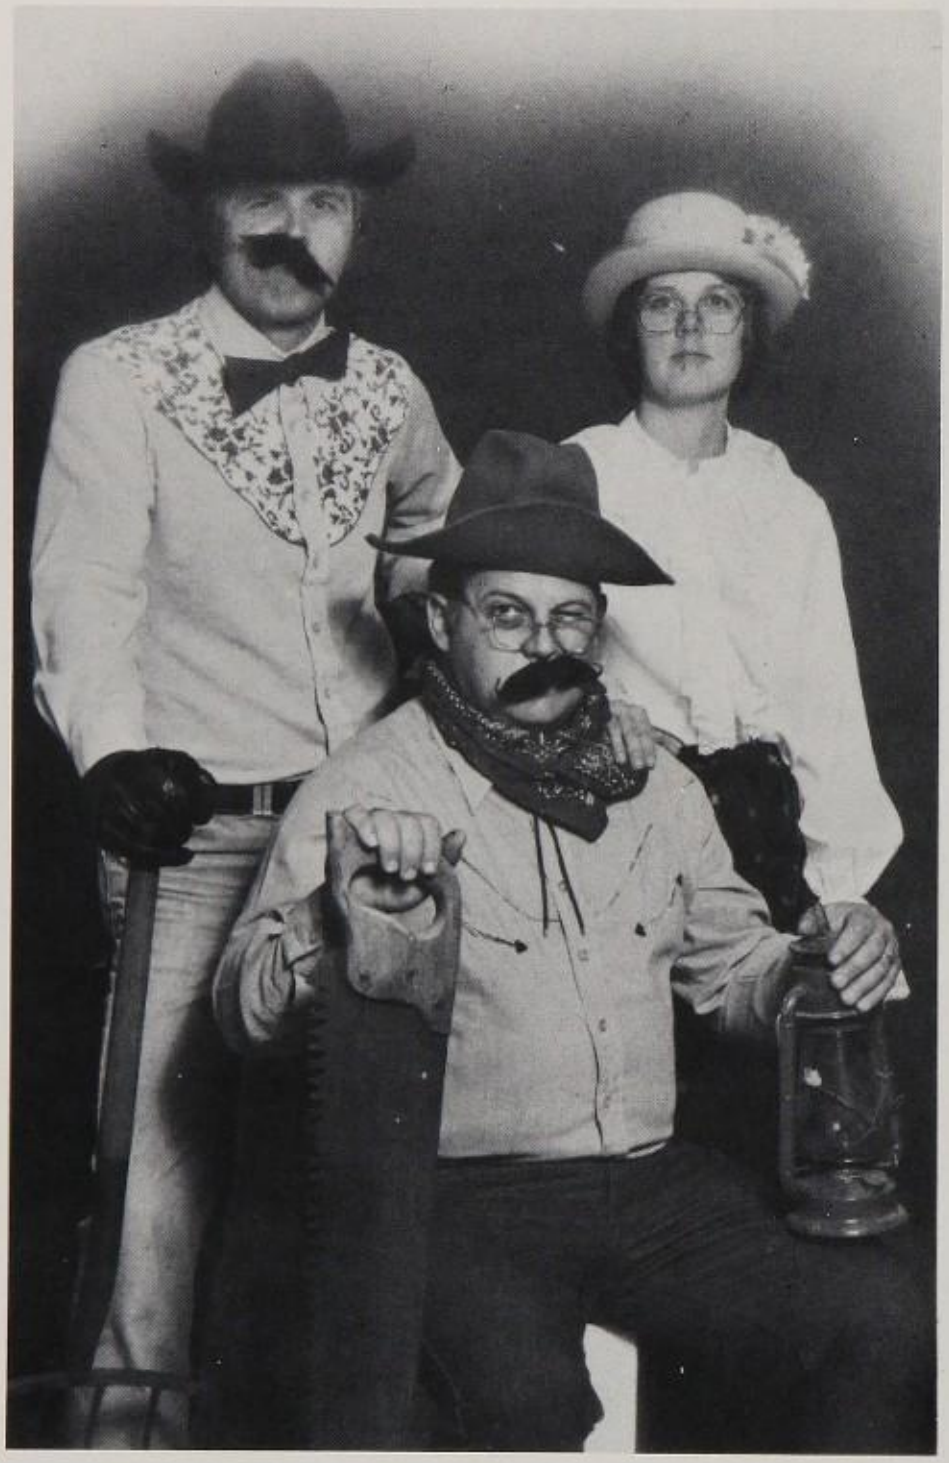
Principal

Group Organizes Community Affairs



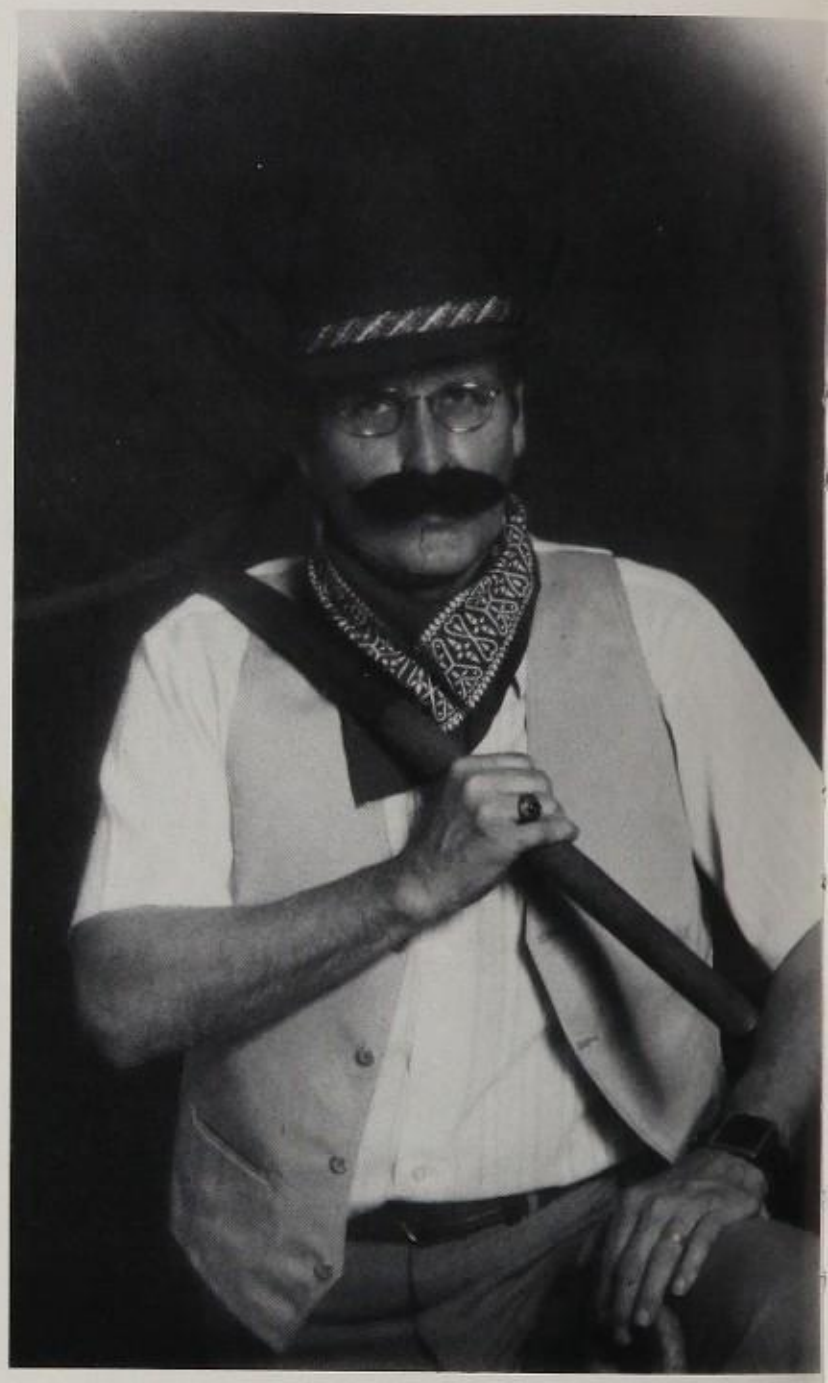
Sitting: Mr. Fred Mertlich. Standing: Mr. Larry Meyer and Mrs. Joan Berry.

Rogers High School has three counselors that stay with their respective classes through the sophomore to senior year. Mr. Fred Mertlich has enjoyed working with the senior class and wishes them much success in future years.

Mrs. Joan Berry is pleased to work with the class of '82, and appreciates their enthusiasm. "We're looking for an 'awesome' senior year," commented Mrs. Berry.

The best sophomore class to hit Rogers in many years is looking forward to an even better junior year. "We're eager to cooperate with next years sophomore and senior classes in keeping Rogers the best high school in the SPSL," states Mr. Larry Meyer.

Thanks to the help of the three counselors, Rogers student body had a successful year.



Mr. Lynn Calkins

Not unlike the town's mayor, Mr. Lynn Calkins was in charge of the organizing and budgeting of all Rogers student activities. This man mapped out the Calender of all sports events, money raising projects and club events. Another important aspect of Mr. Calkins' work was his ability to establish and to reinforce all activities of any kind going on throughout the year. Mr. Calkins makes sure every event is planned and held with little complications.

Staff Provides Aid on the Frontier

Lois Williams, Mr. Cross's secretary, is the office manager. Her main job is to see that the office runs smoothly and to handle Mr. Cross's secretarial work. Pat Mitchell, Mr. Bustad's secretary, is also the office receptionist. She answers phone calls, and takes care of Mr. Bustad's secretarial work. Jeanne Goter, the bookkeeper, handles all money transactions at RHS for the ASB and district accounts. Jeanne Bjoring, the attendance secretary, is in charge of keeping track of the attendance of every student, which includes many hours of recording absences, tardies and preparing reports. Bonnie Dickhoff is our data processing secretary, she handles all the data processing work for regestration and transcripts and computer work for the guidance office. The library secretary. Laviva Dore works for Mr. Leonetti, and helps supervise the library, orders books, takes inventory and prepares books for shelving. Diane Scheidt is the A-V secretary. She is in charge of maintaining and scheduling all the audio-visual material; also, she types instructional material for the teachers. Lyla Anderson, the guidance secretary, keeps the Guidance Office under control, and is very busy typing for the counselors, taking care of student records plus doing numerous other duties. The Nurse, Mrs. E. Henry, takes care of the health services for RHS.

1. Nurse Henry in action
2. Front row: Lois Williams, Jeanne Bjoring. Back row: Lavina Dore, Diane Scheidt, Pat Mitchell, Janet Davis, Jeanne Goter, Bonnie Dickhoff, Lyla Anderson.

Knowing what families were and what they are now, we see a change. Back "Home On The Range" the women were more concerned about sewing, cooking, and cleaning. However, besides the sewing, cooking and cleaning, today there are many different classes available to both guys and gals at Rogers High School. Some of the most important additions were Child Development, Housing, and Clothing.

The Home and Family Life teachers at Rogers stressed the financial independence of the students and how they would manage in the future. Rogers offered classes also in the area of occupational studies such as FEAST, Advanced Foods, Child Care Services, and Health Awareness. From these classes the teachers hoped that each student would gain knowledge about themselves, and to create a life style that the students could live with confidently. Next year the teachers are looking forward to alot of students taking these classes, for the good of themselves, as well as their lives.

Business is an important industry in American life. Schools of yesterday did little more than teach the basics that one needed to get by on. The schools of today have expanded their curriculum to include the working and business world. The classes included in the department are: Business Law, Business Communications, Typing and Shorthand. With the growing need to understand a rapidly changing world, the business classes help to prepare the students for future life.

According to Rich Reed, Rogers will be offering vocational classes next year. These classes will help students get into fields where there is a high demand.

Drivers Education

Traffic Safety Education classes are taught in three basic parts: in the classroom, on-the-road driving, and in simulators.

While in the classroom, students learn rules of the road and safe driving techniques. On-the-road driving is for students to gain in experience and expertise. The simulators help students learn to cope with problems they may encounter while driving.

Readin' . . . Writin' . . .

Years ago, back in the one-room school houses, reading, writing, and arithmetic were the three basics in education. Each of these basics have been refined and expanded upon. Now, Arithmatic has grown to wider fields featuring such classes as Algebra, Geometry and Calculus. English has taken the same route, many of the courses offered at RHS include Logic, College English, Grammar/Vocabulary, and Advance Placement English.

The instructors use different methods of teaching which have been found to be more successful than the hickory stick. Students are now able to relate to the more personal side of their teachers. Students and teachers have reached the point, where fortunately they can work in a more relaxed atmosphere, in which the teacher needn't constantly threaten the student with the old fashioned whippings.

The change in the three basics has been a welcome and well-received one. The benefits are far-reaching and will be carried on into later life.

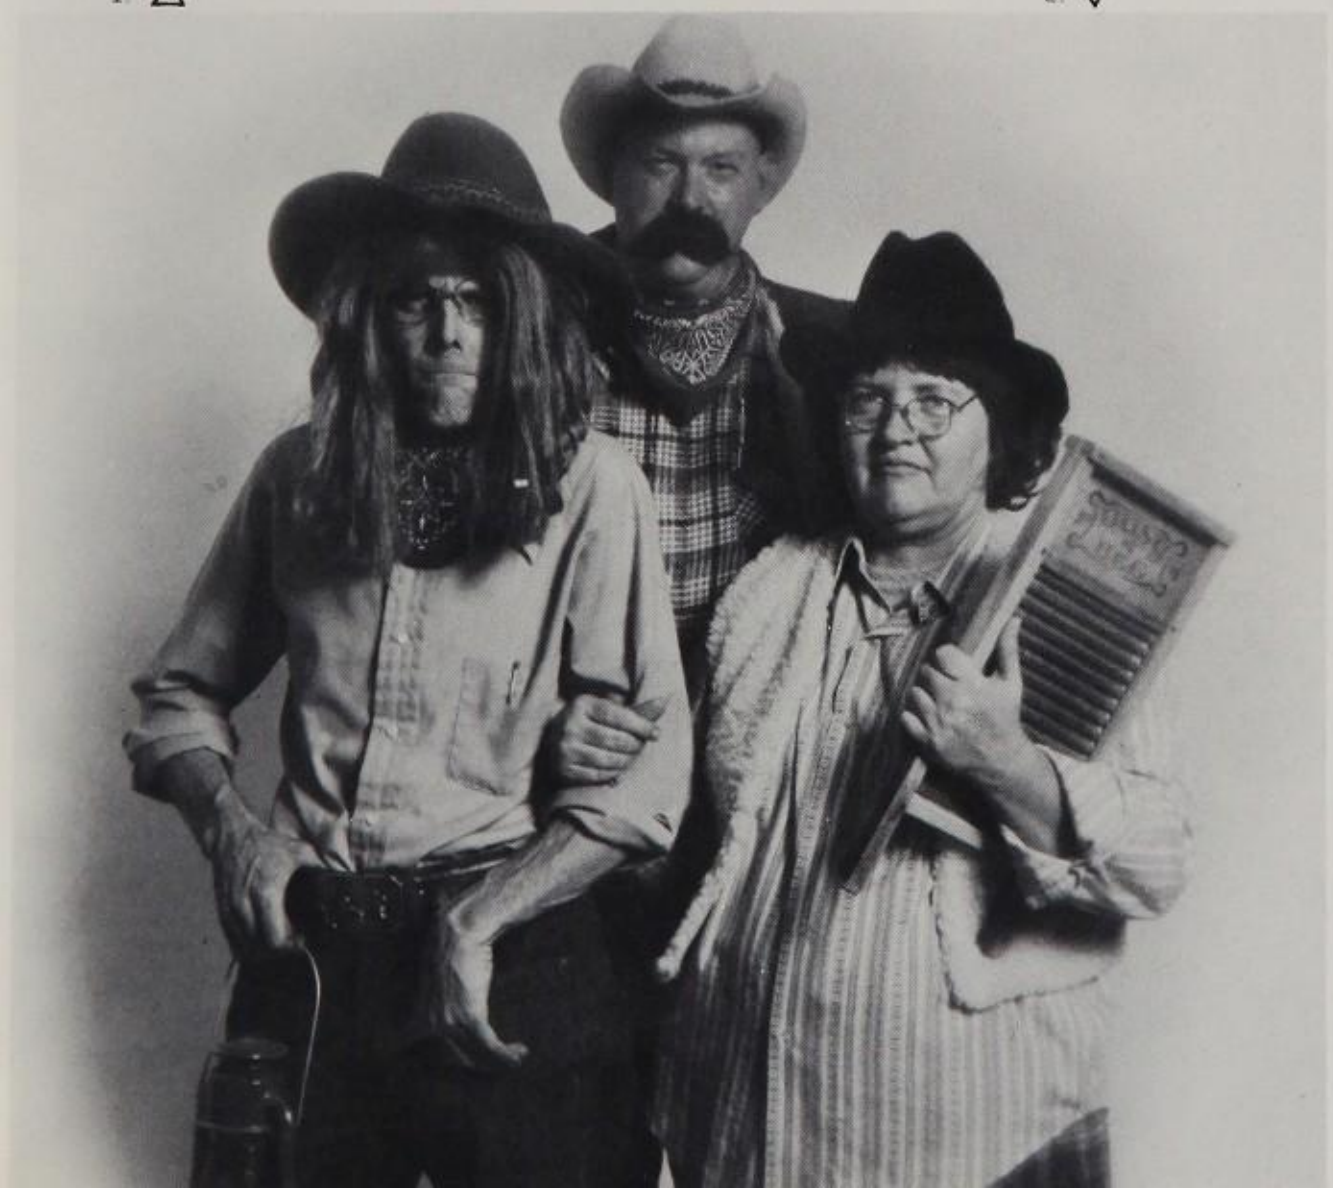
Many things have changed since the days of the Old West. In the one-room school houses, reference materials were limited to a few dusty volumes. The references have expanded to what is now the present day library. The Special Services teachers assist the students daily with needs for furthered knowledge. The aid is valuable and the library could not be run successfully without their help.

Cooks and Custodians Contribute to a fine Campus

1. △ 2. ▽



The cooks prepare an average of 475 lunches per day. All the cooking is done here at Rogers. This year, the cooks provided a salad bar, that was enjoyed by both the faculty and the students. From 7:15 to 7:45, the cafeteria was open, and the cooks were busy serving doughnuts and hot chocolate, and selling tickets for the fast food line and the salad bar.

The custodians are always busy maintaining machinery and upkeeping the campus, and many other chores. Their job is very important and is much appreciated.

SHOW ON EARTH!

Roger's annual Homecoming Week was held October 13-18. To start the week off on Monday the students participated actively by dressing up as cowboys for Western Day. Tuesday, Pajama Day was highlighted by an early morning breakfast held in the cafeteria. Circus Day, Sports Day and the traditional Formal Day filled the next three days.

Homecoming ended with "The Greatest Show on Earth". The assembly was marked by a Swing Choir performance, class competition and the Royalty presentation. Hard work and determination by many of the senior students helped to make the assembly, dance and the entire week a success.

The excitement and anticipation were over and Diana Robinson was crowned Roger's 1980-81 Daffodil Princess.

Before the Queen's Coronation, Diana spent many hours preparing for the ceremony. She attended luncheons at private clubs and spoke before the members. Diana also went to charm school every Saturday to polish her manners.

The girls involved in the Roger's coronation became close friends and grew from the exciting experience. The memories of their time together will last forever.

Cheerleading is a lot of things, but mostly it's many hours of hard work. The long hours were devoted to painting posters for games and pep assemblies, devising new and different cheers and routines and of course, practicing.

The 1980-81 Yell Staff was unique in the aspect that they were all seniors. The girls attended the World Cheerleader Council Camp in Ellensburg where they recieved three superior ratings.

The close feeling within the staff contributed to making the year a fun and memorable one for all the girls.

J.V. Cheerleaders Display Enthusiasm

The J.V. Cheerleaders filled their year with games, fund-raisers and many learning experiences. Some of the more successful fund raisers included selling Roger's hats and scarves at the games, having bakesales and sponsoring a tremendously well attended dance, held after the Rogers-Puyallup basketball game. Other activities which the girls gave their time to were decorating the athlete's lockers, painting posters and of course, cheering at every game in support of our RAMS.

The staff put alot of their time during summer vacation and also during and after school into perfecting their chants and jumps. It required a lot of work and effort on all the girls part, but all and all it was a very fun experience and well worth the time spent. experience and well worth the time spent.

The drill team was active this year marching at home football games, the playoff game, five home basketball games, halftime at a PLU basketball game, and the Daffodil Parade.

Because of scheduling problems and summer dropouts, the drill team was smaller than usual, with only 22 members. Some of the girls went to camp in Portland and Tacoma during the summer.

The Drill Team members worked hard raising money for a trip with such projects as: car washes, jog-a-thon, selling stuffed animals, and gift wrapping at Christmas.

Printers go to Press

This year's COMMONER staff distributed a consistently good paper, but kept the philosophy of working hard and having fun. Editor Kelli Sliffe commented, "By no stretch of the imagination was this year's staff an average one, or even a normal one. We had a lot of fun behind the scenes and was one of the most clever staffs Rogers has had in three year's." The COMMONER staff have received many comments directed at their innovation, creativity, and boldness. These dedicated individuals have worked hard and set many precedents for years to come concerning school newspapers. One sport that many students do not recognize as a sport is debate. This year's debate team consisted of twenty-six students, nine of which were returning varsity members. Advisors for the group were Mrs. Houghton and Jerry Hobbs from P.L.U.

The debate team met each day during sixth period and spent an additional four to five hours a day at home working on their individual speeches.

The two most important debates were held at Western Washington University on Dec. 5 and 6, and at Gozaga University on Jan. 9 and 10. Students from all over the Pacific Northwest participated in these tournaments.

The group raised money by running in the jog-a-thon, donations and bake sales.

All members agreed that it was a very successful year.

DECA reaches new heights

Suffering from the "WSU Football Syndrome" (three teachers in three years.), the Rogers Distributive Education Clubs of America program is just now reaching the great "Corky Era". It seasons under the helm of second year teacher Mr. Randy Walden.

This year, thirty-one Marketing/Distributive Education students learned business management and merchandising first hand by operating the student store. They developed leadership qualities by taking part in workshops offered at conferences in Pasco, Colorado Springs, Seattle and Anahiem, California, They were involved with the Puyallup area business community through participation in DECA Days, speaking at civic organizations, sponsoring an employer-employee banquet, and by coordinating a fund raising drive with the merchants, the proceeds were donated to charity. They developed keener social skills through planning and attending DECA social functions.

Above all, the Marketing and Distributive Educations Students learned about themselves and what careers in the business world they wanted to pursue.

"The most explosive team at Rogers", Coach Hoonan stated. The Rams led the league in offense all year, with 2451 yards in nine games, they also led the league in defense against the run. Senior leadership, commitment and the "We are family" attitude of the team helped develop the nucleus of the team. With inspiring coaches and awesome managers the team grew more than most teams. The winning stretch late in the season, the Rams were playing their best with victories over Lakes, Federal Way and Sumner. Tennis Team Gains Experience

With one returning veteran player, the Rogers girl's tennis team was young in two different ways. This was the first year of competitive play for most of the team members and the coach. Mark Smith came to Rogers coaching inexperienced but eager girls. The main ingredient in the teams play was having fun. Along with this fun came the improvement of technique. The team's record was 0-8. Although the record reflected inexperience the girls felt it was a good learning season and look forward to next year.

Varsity Volleyball Makes Play-offs

The "1980" Rogers Volleyball Team had the most successful season in the history of Rogers High. Their season record was 9-6 with a 6-3 league record and a league finish of tied for third. The third place finish qualified the Rams for a district tournament playoff spot which matched them against Evergreen of the NPSL. The Rams played some of their best volleyball of the year, but lost the decision in a very exciting three game match.

Seniors Karen Barnes, Cathy Dayton, Danelle Frank, and Laura Adler who did much to the Rams fire this season will be sorely missed, but junior Robin Heehn and sophomore Sheri Bauer, Kristin Larson, Darcy Derrick, and Joan Wlldermuth will provide the nucleus for a very strong league contender next year.

The team consisted of: Danelle Frank, Darcy Derrick, Tami Waddill, Joan Wildermuth, Karen Barnes, Robin Heehn, Sheri Bauer, Shelly Schrader, Laura Adler, Kristin Larson, Christine Hannon, Cathy Dayton.

144-1 Sheri Bauer steadily bumps the ball as Robin Heehn Dannelle Frank, and Karen Barnes watch in amazement.
145-1 Coach Carmicheal gives advice to the team.
145-2 Sheri Bauer blocks tough shot.
145-3 Cathy Dayton bumps ball to net.
145-4 Robin Heehn spikes the ball and adds another point to the score.

Positive attitudes and cooperation were strong points of the Boy's Tennis team. This year, the team was made up of mostly juniors who were inexperienced, due to the fact that last years' team was an almost all senior varsity. Lee Marshall, Mike Begert, and Mark Havens were the three returning letterman. Jim Krouse, Guy Rowley, and Russ Rosier returned from the junior varsity team from last year.

Conditioning was a major part of each workout, but skills and technique were also stressed. Even though workouts were strenuous, most of the team members turned out because they enjoyed playing tennis and wanted to have fun. Their matches were on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Trackers Head Down Trail to Victory

Talent and potential were the two main characteristics of the 1981 Rogers Track Team. A good balance of experienced runners along with a healthy group of novice sophomores provided the team with the runners needed for a promising season.

Led by captains, Diane Haugen and Tim Wulfekuhle, the RAMS were a spirited and competitive group. The 1981 Track Team was unique in the league because Rogers ran a combined team including both boys and girls in one training program. The major advantage was to form a unity around all members of the team. "This group has as much talent as any team I've seen at Rogers, they are a great bunch of kids and a real joy to work with," stated Head Coach Dave Weir.
